Materials

Steel, brass, ferrous metal; wrought, polished

Description

Dark gray metal lectern with bright brass colored shelf. Circular base with slim stem rising at an angle from the bottom towards the top surface which slants downward at an acute angle to the lectern's stem. The shiny brass reading table contrasts with the more matte dark steel base. On the base, there are ribbons of decoration which swirl around the central lectern stem in whiplash curves. These decorative elements both fall from the top and also emerge in an upward direction from the base. Overall, the piece is smooth and refined in texture, although tool marks are visible.
